

Dear Daniel,

You and me have a lot in common. My paper about the Shroud of Turin was rejected by the conferences at St. Louis and Bari, Italy:

<https://shroudofturin.files.wordpress.com/2014/07/roemer.pdf>

The IEEE initially sponsored the Bari conference which meant that all the papers, if they were delivered in person, would be published by IEEE Xplore. I joined the IEEE and filed an ethics complaint against Bruno Barberis, et. al., for practicing pseudoscience. The IEEE withdrew its sponsorship of the conference. I filed the same complaint against Cardinal Dolan with the Pope for suppressing my slideshow about the Holy Shroud (<http://www.dkroemer.com>).

I discovered a short while ago that the Magis Center is promoting the irrational argument for God's existence based on the Big Bang and the fine-tuning of physical constants. The Big Bang is evidence that God does not exist because it is evidence that the universe is not intelligible. The Big Bang is, however, a reason to believe in the Bible because the Bible says in many places that God created the universe from nothing and the human authors knew nothing about the expanding universe and cosmic background radiation. I explain this more fully at:

<http://ezinearticles.com/?Fallacious-Arguments-That-God-Exists&id=9065995>

There is another connection between us because you live in Philadelphia. Being ignored by Fr. Spitzer, I asked to see Archbishop Charles Chaput. He refused to see me, and I have pending a request to see Rebecca Reusch, who works for the office of Evangelization and Catechesis of the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops. If my request for an appointment is refused or ignored, I'll be filing a canonical complaint against your bishop. My correspondence is at <http://www.pseudoscience123.com/resources/charles-chaput.pdf>

I have also crossed swords with Stephen Barr about evolution and thermodynamics: <http://www.pseudoscience123.com/resources/stephen-barr.pdf>

I'm hoping you have the courage and character to contact Spitzer, Chaput, or Reusch and offer your support. According to Fr. Spitzer's secretary, he is too busy to concern himself with "matters of opinion."

Very truly yours,

David Roemer
347-417-4703

Dear Daniel,

You and me have a lot in common. My paper about the Shroud of Turin was rejected by the conferences at St. Louis and Bari, Italy:

<https://shroudofturin.files.wordpress.com/2014/07/roemer.pdf>

The IEEE initially sponsored the Bari conference which meant that all the papers, if they were delivered in person, would be published by IEEE Xplore. I joined the IEEE and filed an ethics complaint against Bruno Barberis, et. al., for practicing pseudoscience. The IEEE withdrew its sponsorship of the conference. I filed the same complaint against Cardinal Dolan with the Pope for suppressing my slideshow about the Holy Shroud (<http://www.dkroemer.com>).

I discovered a short while ago that the Magis Center is promoting the irrational argument for God's existence based on the Big Bang and the fine-tuning of physical constants. The Big Bang is evidence that God does not exist because it is evidence that the universe is not intelligible. The Big Bang is, however, a reason to believe in the Bible because the Bible says in many places that God created the universe from nothing and the human authors knew nothing about the expanding universe and cosmic background radiation. I explain this more fully at:
<http://ezinearticles.com/?Fallacious-Arguments-That-God-Exists&id=9065995>

There is another connection between us because you live in Philadelphia. Being ignored by Fr. Spitzer, I asked to see Archbishop Charles Chaput. He refused to see me, and I have pending a request to see Rebecca Reusch, who works for the office of Evangelization and Catechesis of the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops. If my request for an appointment is refused or ignored, I'll be filing a canonical complaint against your bishop. My correspondence is at <http://www.pseudoscience123.com/resources/charles-chaput.pdf>

I have also crossed swords with Stephen Barr about evolution and thermodynamics:
<http://www.pseudoscience123.com/resources/stephen-barr.pdf>

I'm hoping you have the courage and character to contact Spitzer, Chaput, or Reusch and offer your support. According to Fr. Spitzer's secretary, he is too busy to concern himself with "matters of opinion."

Very truly yours,

David Roemer
347-417-4703