

I'd like to give a developmental lesson (see attached lesson plan) at St. Joseph's Seminary on these three topics in fundamental theology:

Mr. Vincent DaSilva, who is the Director of the University Apostolate, suggested that I give a presentation your seminary because I was attempting to reach out to Catholic college student. I mailed a letter Cardinal Dolan about this matter and posted it here:

"Rational Arguments For God's Existence: Evangelizing Is Good and Proselytizing Is Bad" (<http://www.newevangelist.me>).

My work on the Holy Shroud caused the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers to withdraw its sponsorship of a conference that would have discredited the Catholic Church:

"Canonical Complaint Against Cardinal Dolan: Science and the Catholic Church" (<http://www.dkroemer.com>).

The third matter, which should be of interest to anyone preaching the gospel, concerns an absurd article about evolutionary biology in a peer-reviewed physics journal. See:

"Pseudoscience in the American Journal of Physics" (<http://www.pseudoscience123.com>).

I had a two-hour interview with James H. Fetzer on May 16. It was his 200th show and is titled, "Science and Religion."

Very truly yours,
