

Upon information and belief, the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith wants me to instruct the Catholic Church in the U.S. about the arguments for God's existence. See:

"Rational Arguments For God's Existence: Evangelizing Is Good and Proselytizing Is Bad" (<http://www.newevangelist.me>).

The following links explain why the Shroud of Turin was probably created by Gnostics in the 1st or 2nd century using methods that have been lost in history. See

A third matter which should be of interest to anyone preaching the gospel concerns an absurd article about evolutionary biology in a peer-reviewed physics journal. See:

I had a two-hour interview with James H. Fetzer on May 16. It was his 200th show and is titled, "Science and Religion."
