Your Excellency,

I am writing to request a meeting with you so I can explain my concerns about the Magis Center, which lists you as an advisor.

Misunderstanding the cosmological argument for God's existence, the Magis Center promotes the idea that the Big Bang and the fine-tuning of the constants in physics is evidence for God's existence. Since the Church teaches that we know God exists by reason, promoting irrational arguments is heresy. At least, it seems so to me.

My other concern is that Stephen Barr is on the Board of Academic Fellows. What I have against Dr. Barr is the email he sent me on June 4, 2012, saying that I don't understand thermodynamics and biological evolution:

I touch upon both of these issues in my review of Fr. Spitzer's book "New Proofs for the Existence of God: Contributions of Contemporary Physics and Philosophy," which I just posted

<http://ezinearticles.com/?Fallacious-Arguments-That-God-Exists&id=9065995>

I also mentioned the scandal about evolution and thermodynamics in my canonical complaint against Cardinal Dolan for promoting pseudoscience about the Shroud of Turin (<http://www.dkroemer.com>).

Before agreeing to meet with me, you might want to call Fr. Brian Mulcahy, O.P., who is now a pastor in New Hampshire. I had a meeting with Fr. Mulcahy about this matter on September 9, 2013 (see: "Correspondence with the Catholic Church" at <http://www.pseudoscience123.com>).

Very truly yours,

David Roemer

The answer is once again "NO" and please do not write to me again. I will not respond.
